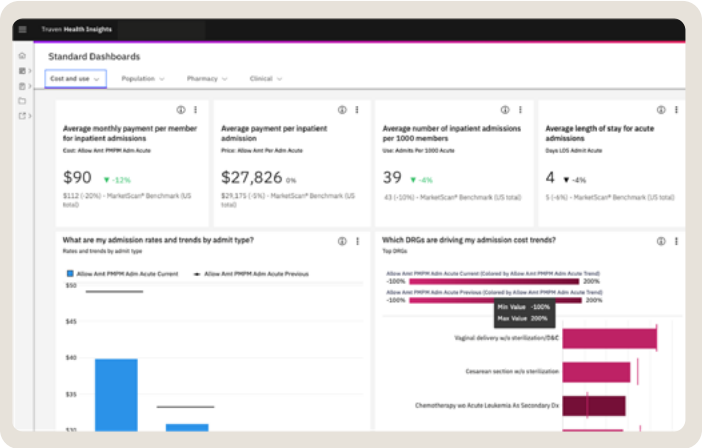
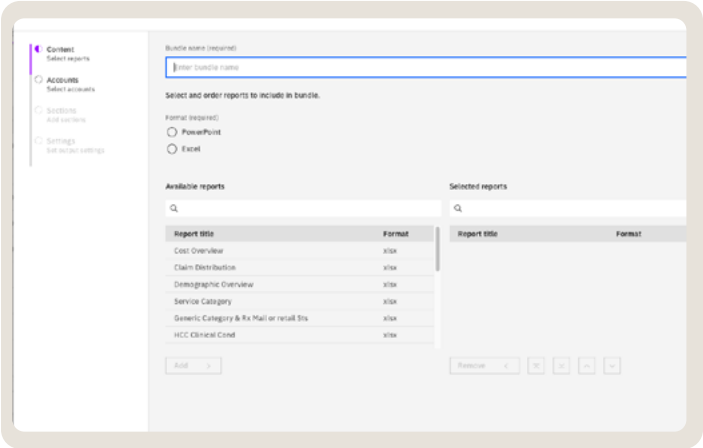
merative™

With healthcare costs rising, employers are looking for every opportunity to save, and that includes scrutinizing every aspect of their benefits programs. That puts more pressure on health plans and benefit advisors – who already operate in a competitive environment – to demonstrate value and establish themselves as a strategic and consultative partner.

Truven Health Insights is an enterprise healthcare analytics platform that gives you everything you need to report on healthcare program performance in one place. It includes Account Group Insights, an employer group reporting tool with interactive dashboards, configurable and report dissemination to help you deliver relevant program insights at scale.



Share interactive dashboards with clients



Create and distribute bundled reports to account groups

Create your own reports

You're in control. Tag your audience by segment, such as fully insured, group insured, region, or industry. Then grant access to configurable, interactive and pre-created report packages to the right account groups at the right level at the right time.

Flexible distribution options

Tell a story in context. Use Health Insights to deliver content interactively or seamlessly integrate it into PowerPoint presentations, tailored specifically to your target audience. Also includes PDF and Excel export options.

Centralized administration

Free up bottlenecks and onboard new users quickly and easily with administrative controls including delegated provisioning. Account Group Insights is integrated directly within Health Insights for a convenient and complete enterprise reporting suite.
