Benefits are a delicate balance - organizations want to keep employees happy, healthy and productive at work, while ensuring benefits programs are sustainable and delivering ROI. As a benefits professional, you sit in between both worlds, putting you in the best spot to meet your organization's goals. But your job isn't getting any easier with stretched resources, economic pressures, and a demanding labor market.

That's why Truven Health Insights is purpose-built for busy benefits professionals who need the tools and support to make confident program decisions, faster. It includes all the self-service dashboards and reports you would expect, with the ability to customize your views and drill down for deeper analyses. And it's backed by the industry's most experienced team of healthcare analytics experts, so you can get the proactive guidance needed to answer your most challenging benefits questions.

A unified experience

Health Insights makes it easy for everyone across the organization to surface insights without needing to be an expert in data science. Dashboards provide a macro view of the aggregate KPIs and trends affecting population health and costs. Guided drill paths reduce the possibility of errors or omissions and hasten your time to insight. Health Insights includes Ad Hoc Report Writer, which is tailor made for power users who want to perform deeper analyses.

A trusted copilot

Health Insights is backed by Truven's Analytics, Research and Solutioning team, your trusted partner to help answer the question, "Is my program working?" We can help you address top business challenges, such as point solution evaluation, gaps in care and industry awards.

Actionable insights

Merative has rigorous data curation and management processes to ensure quality, trust, and confident decisions. We then enrich data with time-tested advanced analytic methods purpose-built for healthcare. Built-in predictive risk models, and episode, admissions and outpatient event groupers help you examine fine points of program performance.

Benchmarking with Merative™ MarketScan® Research Databases

We integrate national benchmarking data from MarketScan directly into Health Insights dashboards. Compare program performance to peer organizations with a database that covers 300 million unique patient lives and 14% of the U.S. population in the last 5 years.
